

PREPARING FOR THE MASQUERADE

COTILLION CLUB'S ATTRACTION PROMISES TO BE GREAT SOCIAL FUNCTION.

The Cotillion Club masquerade, which is to be held at Miners' hall on next Wednesday night, is attracting a great deal of attention, and promises to be one of the most popular social functions of the season. The younger set is looking forward to the occasion with the most pleasant anticipation, and there is great fun and a most enjoyable time for those who have been fortunate enough to secure invitations.

The dancers who will make merry on the occasion are having a world of fun over their costumes, for they will be all of home manufacture, there being no costumer at present in town. There are going to be some surprises in this respect, and there will be great rivalry among the disguises.

ASSEMBLY DANCE.

The Assembly dances will be resumed on next Friday night, when the first of the new series will be given at Miners' hall. These dances were largely attended by Tonopah's elite during the early winter, and their renewal is regarded with a great deal of pleasure. There will be the usual good music, good dancing and good time.

TONOPAH DANCING CLUB.

The Tonopah Dancing Club held another of its reunions last night, and Miners' Hall was comfortably filled with the devotees of Terpsichore. The music was jolly, the floor in fine shape, and the entertainment came to an end all too soon for the majority of the dancers.

BUSY IN REESE RIVER COUNTRY

ANY NUMBER OF PROPERTIES BEING WORKED IN THE VALLEY.

Mrs. G. J. Sutherland, president, and C. Anson Parker, secretary-treasurer of the Anson Nevada Gold Mining Company, arrived in the city yesterday from the Reese River Valley country. Mrs. Sutherland will go to Goldfield today, and from there proceed to her home in New York, while Mr. Barker will return to Bonita, where the property of the company is located.

"The district where we are situated," said Mr. Barker, last night, "is a very busy one just now, there being no less than seven properties working, and we are all going after the ore as fast as labor will take us. The Anson Nevada has a very good showing and we feel very much encouraged over the property. The values are in gold, and we are getting very good returns as far as we have gone."

"There are any number of properties being worked in the valley and old Austin, which is the distributing point, is poking up her head again from the memories of the old days of the State, when she was the queen city. There are good mines still in her vicinity, and the people there are awakening to the opportunities of the country around and the immediate neighborhood of the town. And one who has not been there for some time, would be much surprised at the improvements which are going on in Austin itself. County Treasurer Hogan of Lander county, is putting up a fine stone and brick building, which is nearly finished, and there are other structures in progress, showing the confidence that the people have in their own town. There are some very good mines in that country, and there is a better feeling in Austin at the present than there has been in many years."

There is quite a romantic story in connection with the Anson Nevada Gold Mining Company. It is controlled entirely by people of the newspaper world. Mrs. Sutherland, the president, is the wife of S. F. Sutherland, editor of the New York Evening Sun, and is a niece of M. H. de Young of the San Francisco Chronicle. Mr. Barker was also connected with the Sun, and came out to this country to boom and stayed to buy. There are other people of the guild interested in the mine. This is quite a reversal of form with regard to newspaper people. They are usually the first to make a country, and the last to get anything out of it.

Mr. Sutherland of the Evening Sun is one of the most brilliant newspaper men in the country. He is widely known on the coast, having lived many years in San Francisco, where he met and wed his wife. He has a virile pen which he sets to music or war with equal facility, and it is a hardy man who would dare to cross swords with him on the journalistic field. Mrs. Sutherland is very well known in San Francisco, where she spent the earlier years of her life.

BOLD FORGER IS CAPTURED

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—Word was received here today by the Pinkerton Detective Agency of the arrest by one of their men, near Jacksonville, Fla., of Turle Norstrom, who is wanted here for the passing of a forged check for $15,000 on the First National Bank of this city.

Norstrom was a bank clerk in Astoria, Oregon, and coming here with a draft for $3 from the First National Bank of Astoria, he raised the amount to $15,000, and after obtaining part of this sum in cash from the First National Bank of Chicago, and the remainder in drafts and a letter of credit at the National Bank of the Republic of this city. He was arrested while cruising on a small yacht that he had purchased at Brunswick, Fla. He has admitted his identity and confessed to the forgery. An officer will be sent today to bring him to Chicago for prosecution.

DARROW BETTER.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 25.—Clarence Darrow of Chicago, who was operated on at the California hospital a few days ago for mastoiditis, is improving. The physicians in attendance today regarded his condition as favorable and believe that the operation ultimately will prove a complete success.

WILD HORSES AND FAMISHED COYOTE

CHARLES KIRCHEN'S AWFUL EXPERIENCE ON DESERT IN BLIZZARD.

Charles Kirchen, general manager of the Nevada Smelter and Mines Corporation, arrived from Tybo last night, after a most thrilling experience on the desert. His auto was caught in a blizzard and at one time it was feared that it would be impossible to make Tonopah by nightfall. It was bitterly cold, and the snow was whirled up in fleecy clouds in and about the automobile, making locomotion impossible.

Snowdrifts were piled up in front of the machine and it seemed as if nothing short of a snowplow could move the heavy white masses. Mr. Kirchen and his companion were obliged to get out and shovel the snow from in front of the machine, while the chauffeur proceeded along in jerks and spasms. For one stretch the men shoveled the snow for a distance of half a mile. Then they climbed back into the machine, and it was plain sailing for a mile or two.

Just as they thought that they were out of their trouble, they went around a curve, and the nose of the machine buried itself in a bank of snow for nearly three feet. The travelers were compelled to get out again, and it was about all they could do to move their stiffened limbs, but they went manfully to their tasks and while they were in the thick of their work a band of wild horses swooped down upon them, making a dead set for them. The chauffeur yelled to them, and none too soon. One of the wild steeds came head on for the machine, and the others followed in his train.

Charles Kirchen is a well developed athlete, but he was hardly in condition for athletic feats. He saw at a glance that if the direction of the horses was not changed, they would come a cropper into the machine, smashing it into bits, perhaps killing the occupants. Quick as a flash he jumped at the leader, shovel raised on high. On came the leader, and then swat! The shovel descended with a wide swipe and nearly knocked the animal off his feet. The startled horse gave an angry neigh and was off in a minute to the left. His followers went after him, but even at that some of the animals tumbled in a collision with the machine, but no damage was done.

It was a close call, however, for if the men of the machine had escaped, the auto would have been rendered useless at a place on the desert, forty miles from nowhere, and it was a walk, with chances of losing the way, and of being frozen to death.

There were other adventures before our travelers. They had not gone more than five or six miles when they were stalled in the snow again, and it was a case of the shovel again. They worked and worked, and then they were interrupted by howls near at hand.

"Wolves!" cried Kirchen, who had heard that sound so often in his boyhood on the steppes of Russia, where he had traveled with his brother, John.

"Coyotes," corrected the chauffeur.

The chauffeur was right, for around a curve came a band of the hungry creatures, half wolves and half dogs, and they were bearing down upon the benighted travelers. Such a sight had perhaps never been seen on the desert before, but the animals were there in droves, company giving them courage, and on they came. Mr. Kirchen made a dive for his trusty revolver, and let fly at the coyote in advance. The sound of the gun never feazed the pack and it sounded in the awful waste, like the pop of a firecracker.

Kirchen's companion made a jump for the auto, and in reaching for the rail, grabbed the honk, honk. As he pressed the rubber it gave forth a strange, weird, uncanny sound, and the pack came to a full stop not ten feet from the machine. There was surprise on the faces of every one of them, and Kirchen, quick to appreciate the strategic point, cried to give them the other barrel.

Honk, honk, honk, rang out on the cold, freezing air, and the coyotes turned tail, and ran with their tails between their legs as if the devil himself were after them.

"It was a close shave," cried Kirchen, as he jumped into the machine, and there were no more stops on the way until the machine stopped in front of the Nevada Club in dear old Tonopah.

GEORGIA HARPER COMPANY TONIGHT

WILL PRESENT "NIOBE" AT THE PAVILION THEATER.

Tonight we are to have the Georgia Harper Company with us again at the Pavilion Theater, and from the advance sale the indications are that the popular company will be accorded a splendid reception. Miss Harper and her company are to be here for the week and there will be a change of program every night.

For the first performance "Niobe" has been selected, and this is a start in the right direction, for it is a merry comedy with complicated situations and a laugh every minute. It is a clever skit, connecting as it does ancient mythology with modern times. "Niobe" is the work of a sculptor, who has made a most lifelike statue of the goddess, and when she is galvanized into life, she exhibits all the traits, the love and affection, and the tears of the lamented goddess, and she raises merry lads in the home of her owner. It is a go from curtain to curtain and there is ample opportunity for good, wholesome comedy.

"Zira" will be the attraction for tomorrow night, and through the week we are to have "All the Comforts of Home," "Zaza," "East Lynne" and other standard productions.

UNJUST BLAME ON COMMISSION

SHAUGHNESSY DENIES THAT HE AND COLLEAGUES CAUSED WAGE REDUCTION.

In consequence of a reduction from $4 to $3 a day in the wages of the section hands on the Tonopah & Goldfield railroad, a walkout of all the hands of that company, with the exception of three, has taken place. Section foremen were included in the order, the cut in their case being from $135 to $100 per month.

Several of the southern newspapers stated the management had said that the cut was forced by the action of the State Railway Commission in reducing freights and fares on the road.

In an interview with a Journal representative yesterday, Commissioner Shaughnessy expressed great surprise that such a statement should be made public.

"The commission has not done anything with the Tonopah & Goldfield Railroad Company," he said, "and if such a statement has really been made it is utterly without foundation in fact. If the wages of the men on the Tonopah & Goldfield have been reduced, no act of the commission to which I belong is in any wise responsible."—State Journal.
